VACATION PLANNER

BALD HEAD ISLAND LIMITED
PROPERTY MANAGEMENT

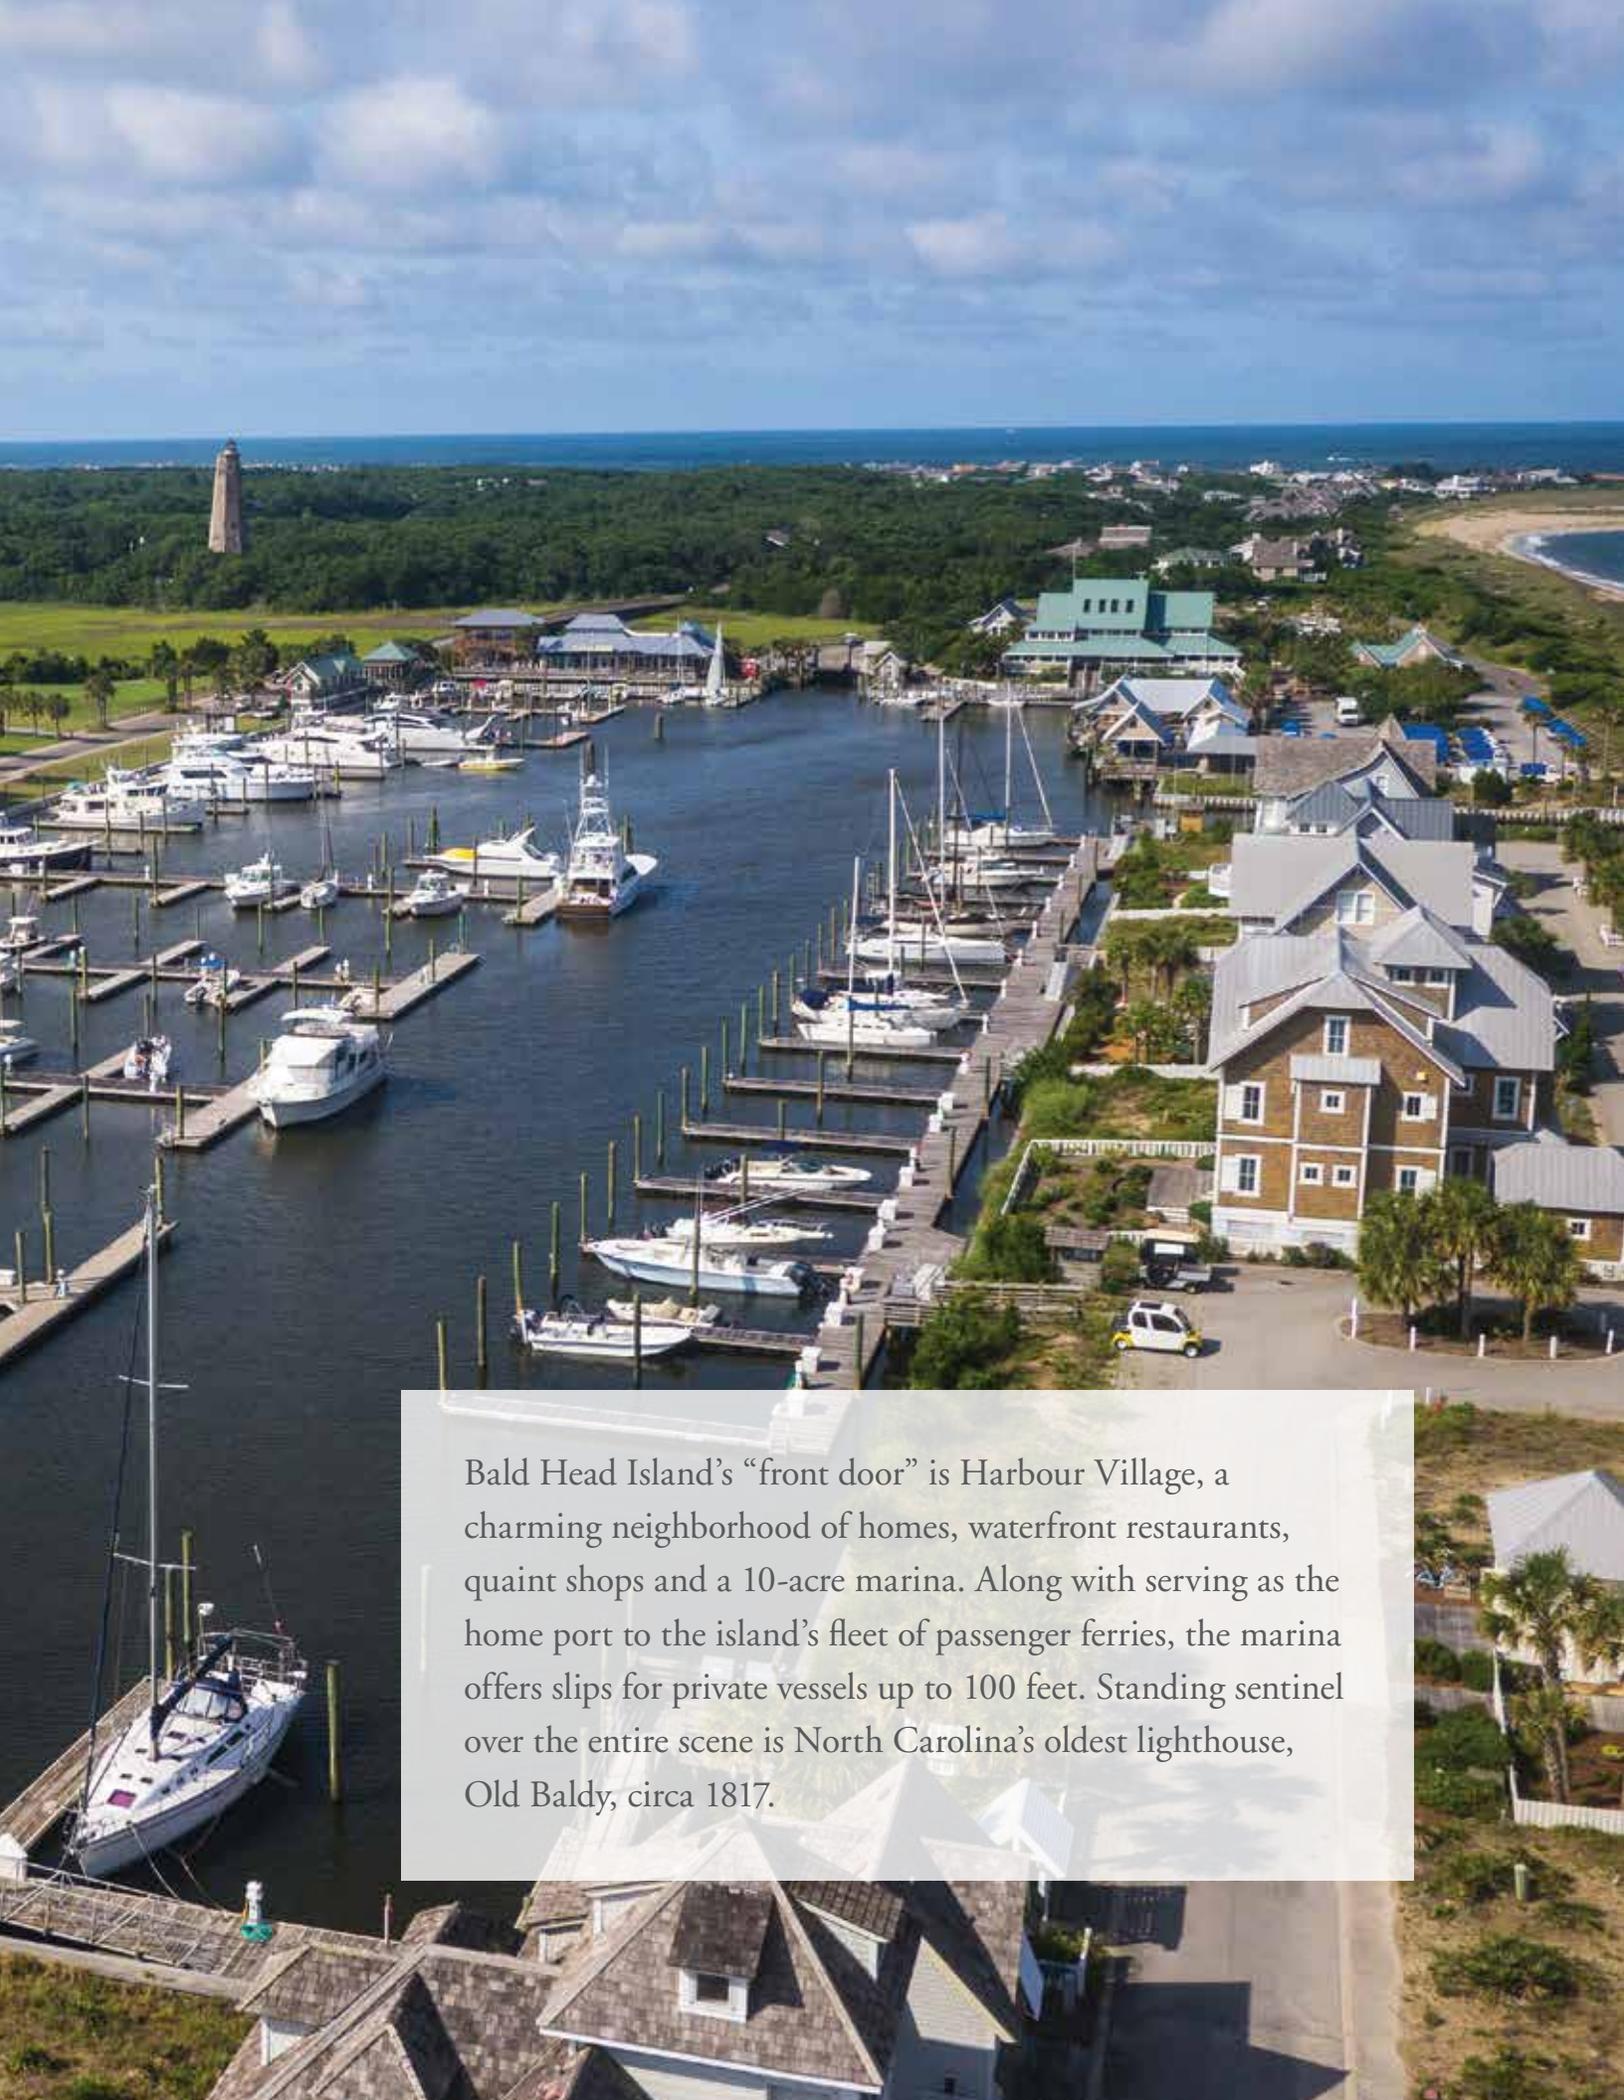

Island Time.

Just two miles off the southern coast of North Carolina, Bald Head Island offers a true change of pace. Here, time is measured by the ebb and flow of the tide, rather than clocks or calendars. You'll leave your car on the mainland, and travel to our shores by passenger ferry. Once here, you'll get around by golf cart, bike or on foot and discover just how exhilarating life in the slow lane can be.

ARRIVE BY WATER AND GO WITH THE FLOW.

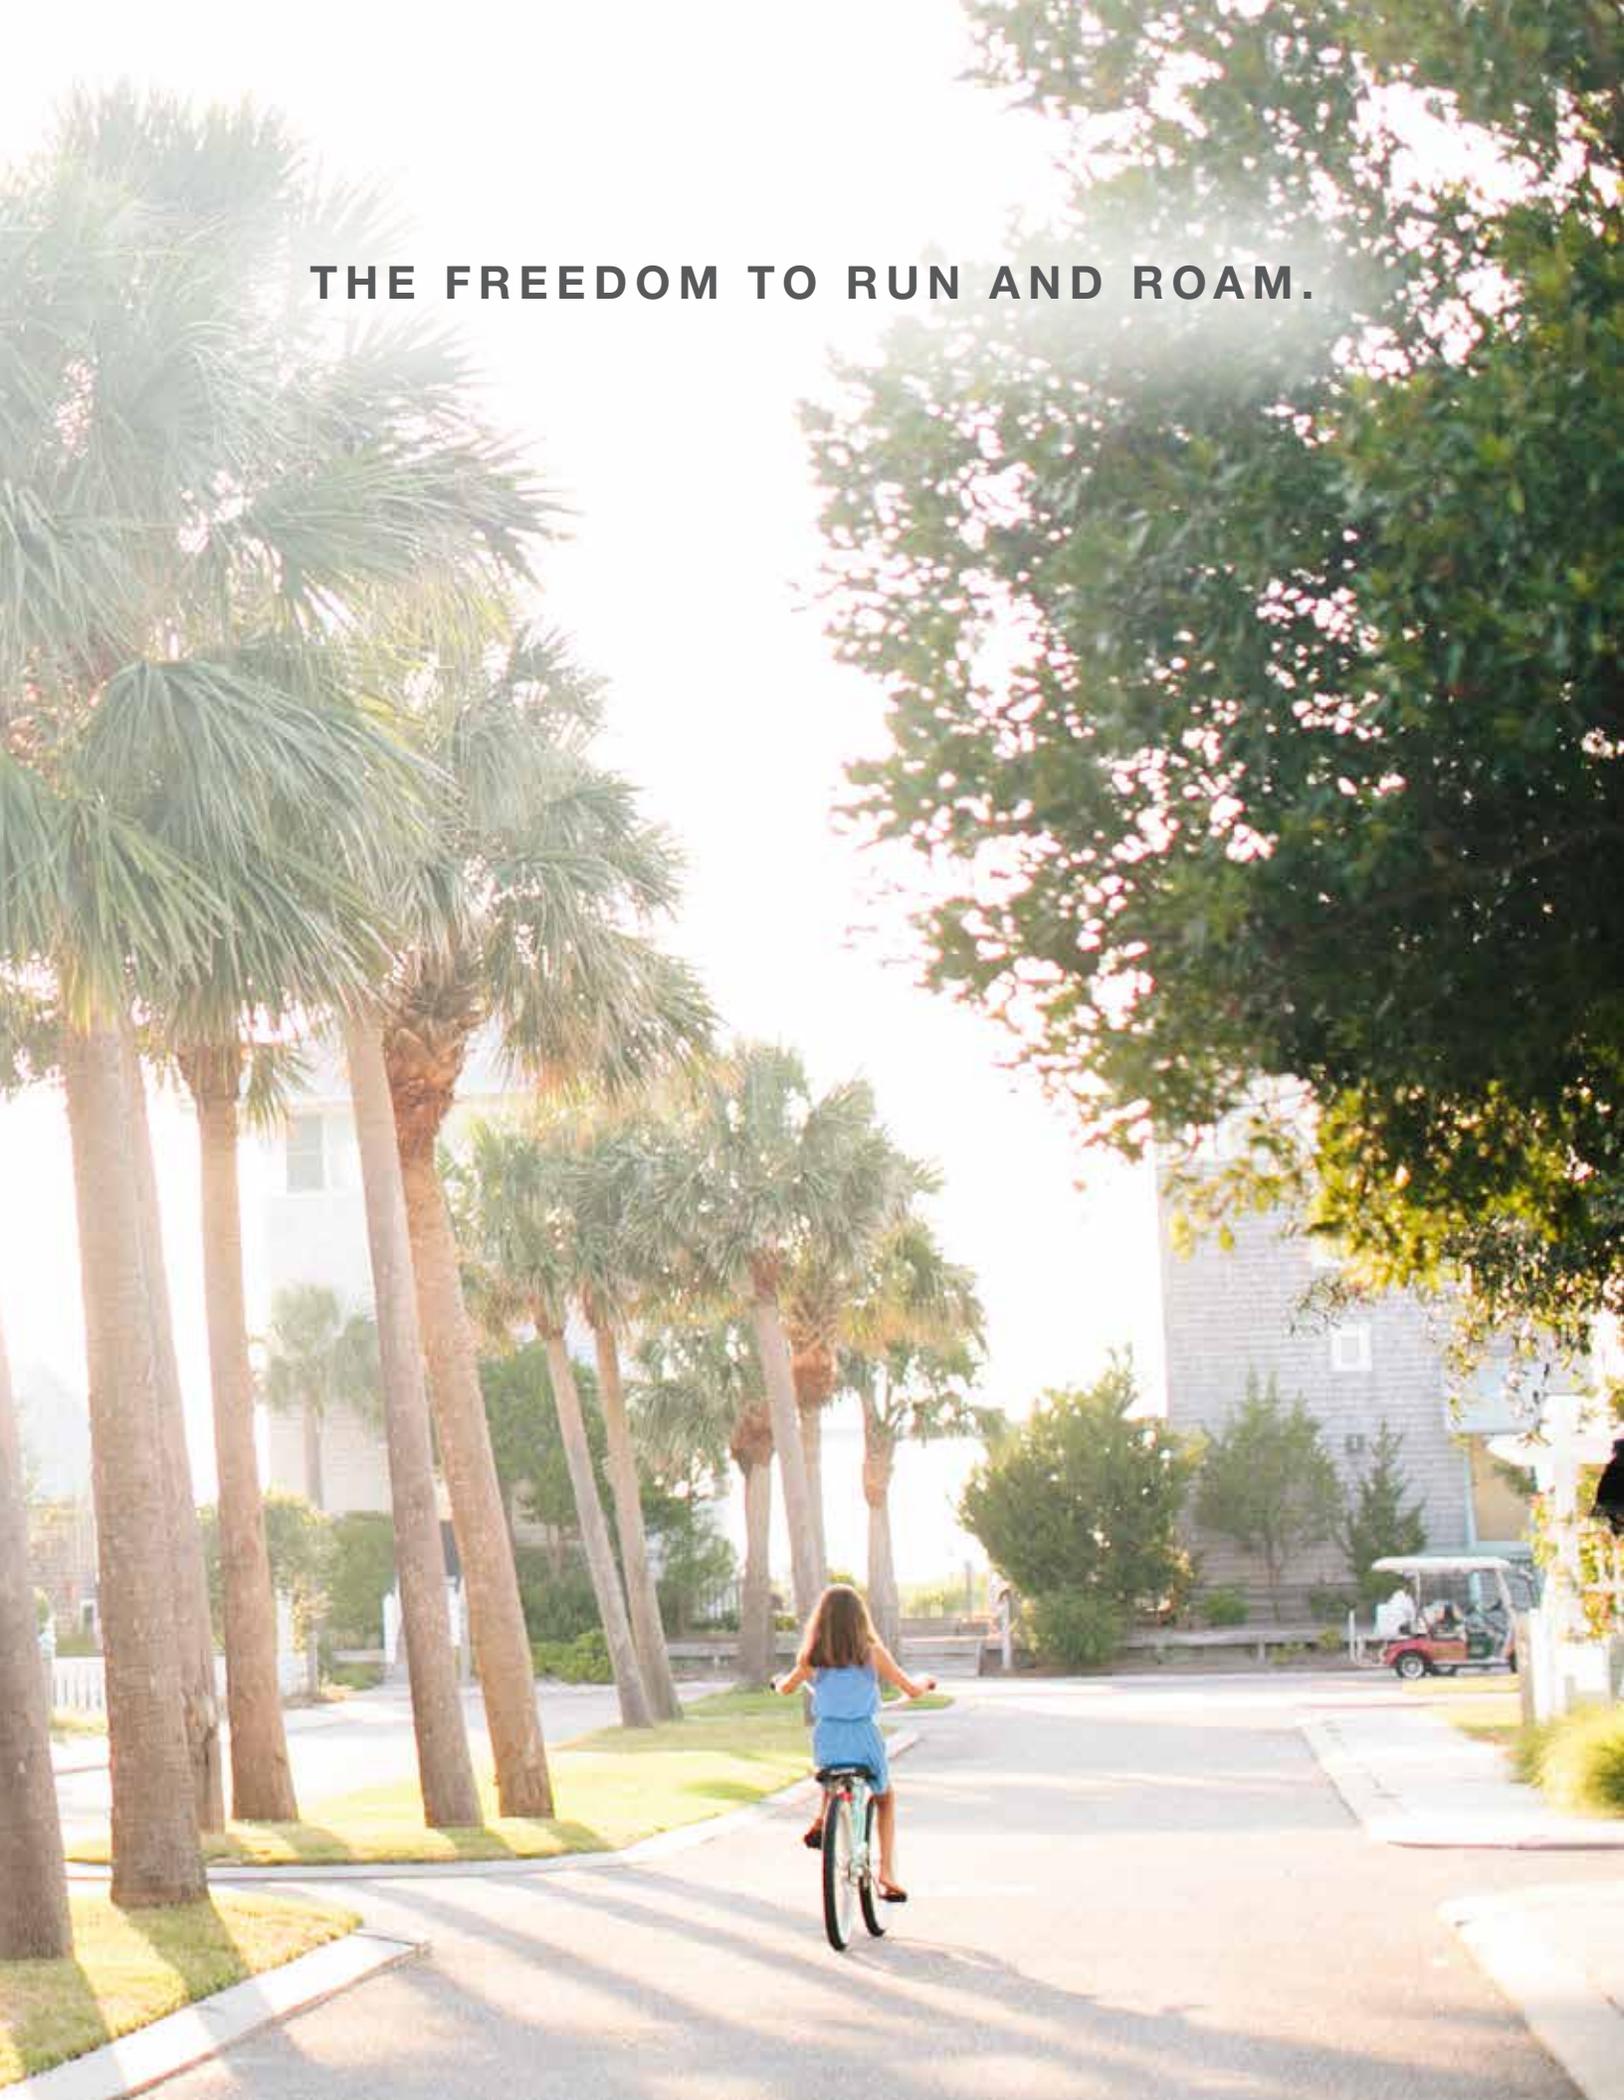

Bald Head Island's "front door" is Harbour Village, a charming neighborhood of homes, waterfront restaurants, quaint shops and a 10-acre marina. Along with serving as the home port to the island's fleet of passenger ferries, the marina offers slips for private vessels up to 100 feet. Standing sentinel over the entire scene is North Carolina's oldest lighthouse, Old Baldy, circa 1817.

Known for its environmental sensitivity and wild beauty, the island offers a natural playground for exploring. Stroll 14 miles of uncrowded beaches. Peddle along the island's car-free roads by bike. Kayak or paddleboard along our winding creeks. Take a Turtle Walk with the Bald Head Island Conservancy. Climb the lighthouse. Hike a maritime forest nature trail. Allow your whims to guide you from one adventure to the next.

THE FREEDOM TO RUN AND ROAM.

When you book most rental homes through Bald Head Island Limited Property Management, you'll gain access to temporary membership in the Shoals Club and the Bald Head Island Club during your stay.

The family-friendly Shoals Club overlooks the magnificent point of Cape Fear. Complementing the club's dramatic views are fine and casual dining, swimming pools, locker rooms, and a host of recreational programs for all ages and interests.

The Bald Head Island Club golf course, named one of the top 100 courses in the U.S., has earned glowing accolades from Links magazine for quality of play. Along with golf, the club offers tennis, swimming, a splash pad, kids' camps, croquet and excellent fine and casual dining.

STAY WITH US AND JOIN THE CLUBS.
